Rusty Sampsell

Rusty,

well. high school's all over and we're still good friends. I guess it kinda got in your way sometimes — but what are friends for. Don't worry too much — you'll come through everything in style. Play it cool and don't take any wooden coeds.

THANKS FOR EVERYTHING.

SIS 68 (and '72)

Ronnie Bradlove

Rusty,
It's been fun hearing you since Dillington days. I certainly wish you best of luck in life. Stay cool in college

Rusty - Wagner would have liked you. Good luck (you don't need it) in the future and best wishes from a Wagnerite.

Rodney Walters

Rusty - I admire you because you know how it is. I hope you'll always remain cool and uncommon. I won't say a word about the past. We should all look to the future →

Be good & don't let glad you didn't let English Seminar '68 bring you down. Some people might have been ruined!

Linda Eatherly
STEPHENSON

Rus,

It's nice to be so different, isn't it? Maybe one of these days it will pay. Thanks for being a friend to me - I really appreciate everything - even when you were scowling. You are adorable - but you always hated that word, didn't you! I hope I can see you later.

Elinor

Rusty,

The last 6 years have been something, but at the moment I can't think of the right word. They wouldn't have been the same without you, though, and I've often been thankful to you for stimulating my dizzy brain!! Lots of luck Rusty. I know you succeed in anything you attempt.

ATHENIAN

vol. LI

Foreword . . .

As the tracks of time have converted this past year into history, we have attempted to capture in the 1968 ATHENIAN as many dreams and experiences as could be secured within its limited binding.

No one person can know all the thoughts, of all the students, about Sherman High School during the 1968 year. It is doubtful whether this knowledge is transferable to even one person. Maybe, just maybe, these are some of his thoughts of what S.H.S. was, is, and is to be. However, the quality of our school is gentle and pervasive and is not to be considered at a glance. It is far more than a building of steps, halls, and exits with the intermingling emotions of its students. It is far more than a moment to describe, and he who feels it can never, never tell of it.

Dr. Wendell Hubbard

Superintendent's Message

You are now approaching the time when you are expected to assume more of the responsibilities of living. Many of you will continue your education either in high school or college. Others of you in the graduating class will immediately come to grips with the problems of making a living. Whichever road you follow, always take pride in your work, put effort into its accomplishments, and the best will come to you.

If, while at Sherman High School this year, you have obtained a little of the desire to live in a democratic society, then it has been well worthwhile.

Principal's Message

The age in which we live is becoming more and more complex. Tremendous technological changes have altered our standards of living. Many different groups are presenting various ideas about religious beliefs, governmental policies and moral standards in an effort to win the minds of all of us to a particular standard which their group supports.

If we, as democratic people, are to survive not only as a people, but as a great nation, we must be educated to think independently and to determine the true values of using technological advancement to better our way of life rather than to destroy it.

We must also learn to recognize the value of the individual and to respect his rights and dignity as a man. An interest in good government, high moral standards, and a firm faith in the Almighty will cause our lives as individuals to be fulfilled and the prosperity of our country to be assured.

In the hands of you young people rests the future of our country. Prepare yourselves educationally and spiritually to make your future and the future of your country a bright one.

Mr. H. B. Onley

Be happy and successful without infringing on the rights of other people.

H. B. Onley

Mr. P. W. Neblett

Sherman High School has always been progressive in philosophy, in function, and in design. Our students are perhaps the most significant factor in making this so.

There are many aspects of school life that do not directly influence the academic education students receive—things like sufficient parking facilities, pep rallies and assemblies for the whole student body, halls that don't get in traffic jams, and a feeling of unity in the student body. These things are not absolutely essential to receiving a good education, but it is these factors that produce an attitude—we call it school spirit—in which students and teachers are willing to do their best academically. Bad attitude can destroy a business or break up a family; it can also ruin the effectiveness of a school. T.H.

WHO'S

Each year the student body and teachers of Sherman High School choose students who they feel deserve extra special recognition in the yearbook. This has always been an honored position and can only be filled by the most qualified students in Sherman High School.

These students are representatives of their respective classes and the departments from which they are chosen. In this section of the Athenian we have included those who are tops in the school and who have been chosen on the basis of scholastic ability, popularity, activities, popularity, service to SHS, popularity, citizenship, popularity, school spirit, popularity, and last but not least, popularity.

Rusty, here it
Kece. here it is again — the
end of another year.
But this one has been
so much more than the others.
ree good times
since the 6th grade. Always look to the future
with high hopes,
and I know
your dreams
will become realities.
Love
Flo

Dear Kristy—

You already know I think you're the coolest guy at school. It's been tremendous being in Debate with you and going on Debate trips and getting to really know you. I only wish we could have worked on it longer. I'm going to miss you tremendously next year—you've really made my junior year worthwhile. I wish it wasn't over, but I imagine you're glad it's over. And all people have hangups. I've just got more than my share—and I'm so glad you've made me taker to yet another one. Keep your head up. May you have all the luck and best wishes anyone could ever give you. You certainly deserve them. I hope college goes well for you since you've looked forward to it for so long (I hope you get your scholarship) and let me tell you - Human Behavior will never be the same after you get through with it.

All my Love

Rusty,
I don't know what happened this year — but somehow you've been nicer to me. Don't ask me why. You're really got a lot going for you — and I know you'll be crossing your professors and interrogating them constantly. That's good, though. I hope I suppose to have all the answers.
Best of Luck.

Rusty -
It's taken me quite a while to get to know you. And I surely I glad I have. You have quite a dynamic personality - only it's covered up a little! (That's not something I say easily!) But I wish the very best for you, and I hope I'll come in contact with you again.

Love,

Afterword . . .

Now that the tracks of '68 are but imprints on the minds of SHS students, we hope that this ATHENIAN has recorded many wonderful experiences of your journey through Sherman High School. We also hope it continues to bring back memories throughout the years as you again glance through its pages.

To the Seniors who are about to step into the broad world beyond the secure walls of this Alma Mater, the staff would like to wish success and happiness in all your undertakings.

Hello Rusty,
Sure am going to miss you in French class. And this summer Mrs. Davis will miss us too. I think that this'll be a fine year. Lots of luck in "69."
Doug Johnson

Rusty,
This French class is one of those things that you just can't escape. You just have to make the best of it. I think we've done a pretty good job of making this class as much as we hate it as much as we do.
Brenda Smith

Rusty,
It's been great knowing you this year in French. Your a great guy that will go far in life. Best wishes for the future.
Cindi Bloom

Rusty,
I guess I've known you for as long as I can remember. It seems funny that just this year I got around to talking to you. I don't believe I ever could have made it through typing without your help. I hope you always have the best of life — if anyone deserved it, you do.
Love,
Claudia
P.S. Someday I'll find out why you were laughing.

Rusty - Do you think I can get everything on just 1 page? I'll try not to make it like another picture. There's so many things I could write - but I don't want to be silly, and if I'm serious your mother might read it - they normally do, you know. And after all the things I've practiced I can't remember anything that I wanted to say. But the page won't last forever, so I'd better get started. I don't know anyone who is so sweet and kind and good - besides being a handsome devil, too! Truly, I mean it. You're everything in the world that a girl could look for, and I don't know how I ever got along without you. So I'm really gonna try hard to make you see how much your patience and self-sacrifice mean to me. If I had just one wish in the whole world, Rusty, I'd wish that I could tell you whatever you want to know and that I didn't have to force myself into it. Because everytime I open my mouth, it's a pain to say anything that might be important. But I'm really gonna try. Hand. Don't worry about anything, and especially ing at me, me, cause you were right - I'll never desert you. Never - and I mean it, because it would be dumb to say "I would hardly ever desert you." And now the page is almost through, and I haven't really said what I wanted to - because it wasn't very well planned. But I hope maybe you'll get the general idea that

I love you,

Nancy
